NEWSLETTER Vol. XXXIV/ No.4 Dec 2024

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Yes, once again I am a slackard. As you might notice, this letter is dated for December of 2024. Back again, had to go get the glasses. Don't see as good as I used too. Falling apart piece by piece. Was sick back in September and just can't seem to get the umph. Then along came Christmas. Had Christmas four times and then just as that is settling, my niece phones me that they are getting married on the 27th of December. They are having a destination wedding in Mexico in February, I did not know that this is not a legal wedding and that you must have one preformed in Canada also. Were supposed to do it sooner, but the person doing the ceremony was stuck in Toronto after a Taylor Swift concert. What are the chances.

Well to business. We had quite a few lilies left over from the fall sale. They are now buried in the back yard in totes and hopefully will make it through the winter. We are hoping to have a spring sale. Ron is off to Arizona, for some sun and relaxation. He will miss out on the sun here. What a winter, never know what is going to happen from day to day. When he is back, we will have a meeting and set some dates and get things organized.

There are a few problems. There is no one in charge of the Historical Garden and the gophers have pretty well destroyed everything. It is a question if we are going to try do something or if we are going to let it revert to the RCMP.

Another question is what can we do to make members want to participate. When I do the March newsletter, I will send out a questionnaire on the subject.

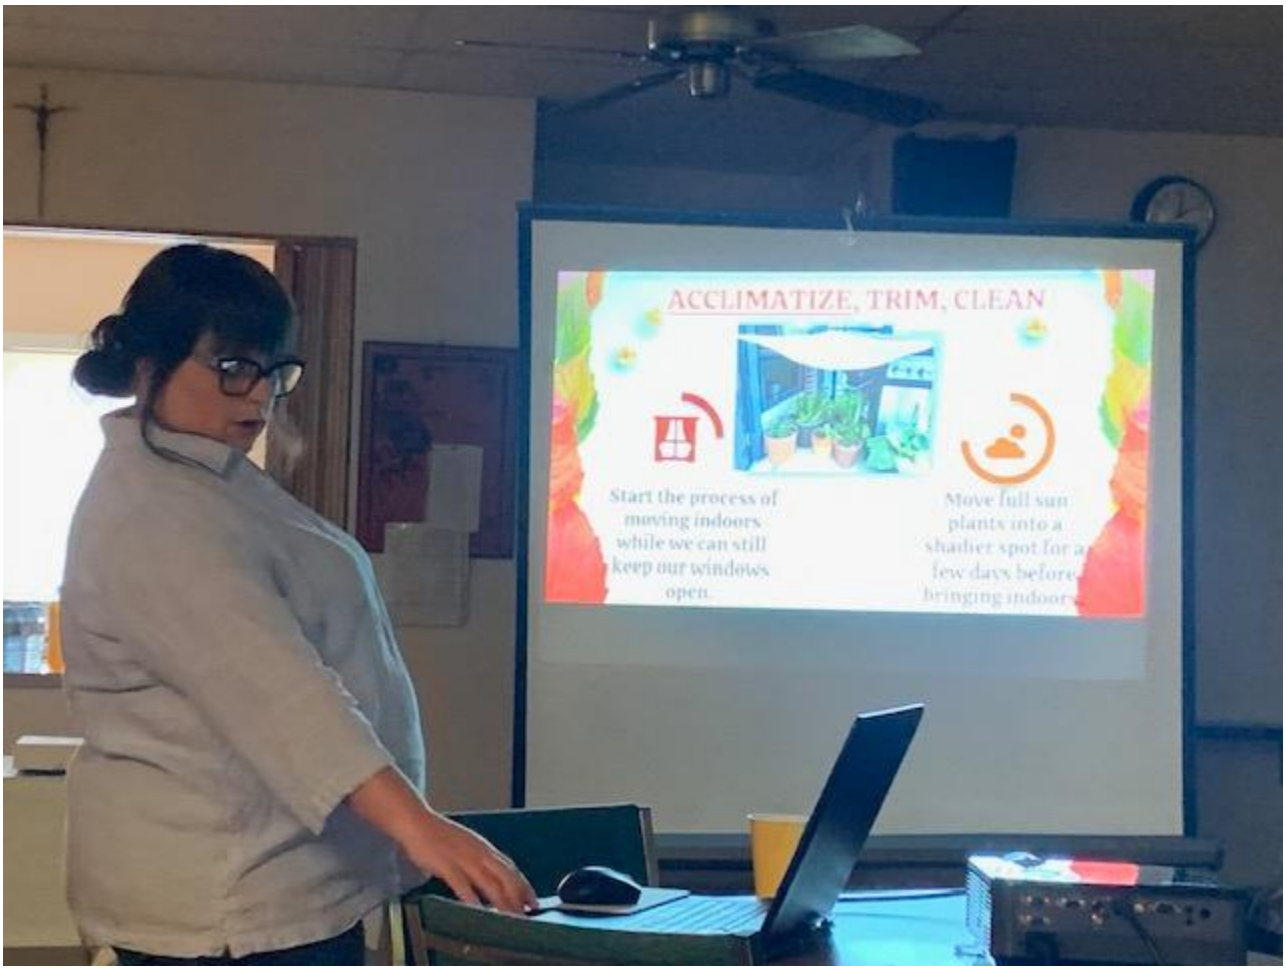
Also we have quite a few memberships due this year and I will be sending out reminders later in the spring. Our membership has dropped recently as we are all getting older and leaving our yards, and the younger generation is not joining. A few members cannot do everything.

We had a Fall Seminar which was poorly attended and a Christmas Potluck which was fun.

Talk to everyone soon.

Susan

Shelia Bonneteau



Shelia was once again the speaker at our Fall Seminar and gave us ideas about which plants can be brought indoors for the winter and which plants to start cuttings from and how we should do this.
